Negro Churches of Atlanta Combine in Movement to Hold

Giant Mass Meeting, at Which $20,000 Will Be Raised
Among Negroes to Complete $100,000 Fund—Ten Thousand Negroes to Pack Auditorium

Atlanta is to be the scene of the greatest demonstration of "the awakening negro" that the year 1913 has seen when 10,000 negroes gather at the Auditorium-Armory next Sunday night as the climax to a long campaign for the building of a new negro Young Men's Christian association in this city. With the announcement of plans for the great mass meeting for the first time today, including addresses by Governor Slaton and Judge Broyles, and with the combined backing of all the colored church of Atlanta, the leaders of the movement confidently assert that it will be the greatest conclave of the negro churches ever held in Atlanta.

Today, in every one of the sixty churches of Atlanta, details of the mass meeting will be announced, and a message read to the congregations outlining the appeal of the Young Men's Christian association. It will be hailed by the churches as one of the sanest and most practical means yet invented for the solution of the negro problem. Every colored preacher in Atlanta will deliver from his pulpit his final exhortation in behalf of the movement.

Enthusiasm has reached a white heat among the ranks of the workers, with the campaign launched fourteen months ago now approaching its climax. A unity of purpose and action never before realized among the negro race has been focused upon this movement. Placards and handbills advertising the meeting will go into every corner of Atlanta.

$20,000 to Complete Fund.

In a word, the primary purpose of the mass meeting next Sunday is to raise $20,000 to complete the $100,000 fund necessary for the building of the new negro Y. M. C. A. in Atlanta. And every single dollar of this $20,000 is to be given by the negroes.

If the $20,000 is raised or assured next Sunday night, the plans for the construction of the new Y. M. C. A. will proceed at once. A central location will be secured for the building, and the drawing of plans will be placed in the hands of architects immediately.

Committee Meets Monday.

At noon Monday the executive committee of pastors of the negro churches stands at the call of the negroes to meet at the Y. M. C. A. on Auburn Y. M. C. A., if the $20,000 is raised next Sunday night. Julius Rosenwald, a Chicago philanthropist, has offered which will have general direction of $25,000 if a fund of $100,000 is raised. The campaign waged in Atlanta last year in behalf of the new Y. M. C. A. man; Rev. R. V. Branch, Rev. S. F. building, now in process of construc-

Trent, secretary of the colored Y. M. C. A.

Another committee which has done splendid work during the past months in laying plans and making preparations for the grand climax to the campaign is the committee of management of the colored Y. M. C. A., composed of C. C. Cater, chairman; David T. Howard, vice chairman; J. O. Ross, William Driskell, W. A. B. Cossby, L. G. Harris, S. W. Walker, A. D. Hamilton, T. K. Gibson, C. A. Faison, M. W. Bullock, John Hope, W. A. Fountain, J. E. Dobbs and J. H. Starke. Under the general direction of this committee allies in the various negro churches of Atlanta have been held on every Sunday afternoon for the past six weeks, by means of which the enthusiasm of the negroes in the Y. M. C. A. campaign has been gradually heightened.

Means of Saving the Race.

Not only has the negro Young Men's Christian association received the support of all the colored churches and the leaders of the negro race, but it has received the unqualified endorsement of eminent white citizens of Atlanta as well. It has been recognized as a means of reclaiming the negro men and boys from crime, and for this reason the churches have determined to give Atlanta one of the finest equipments in the country. At a meeting of the executive committee, held last Wednesday in the association, on Auburn avenue, Marion M. Jackson, J. P. Jackson and W. Woods White met with the committee and assured the negroes of the moral support of the entire white citizenry of Atlanta in the Young Men's Christian association campaign.

"This is a movement which can have a powerful effect in uplifting your race and in counteracting the influence of vice and crime," said Marion Jackson in addressing the committee.

"Hordes of criminals and schemers are on Decatur street and in the alleys and by-ways, laying for the negro and waiting for an opportunity to pull him down for the sake of the pennies in his pocket. This is what the churches have got to fight, and they must go at it practically by dealing with the individual man and boy, and giving him other things than evil to think about. The Colored Young Men's Christian association should be the most constructive force toward this end, and it is up to the churches to back this movement with all their strength and to make of the Young Men's Christian association a powerful force in the community.

Where's a Nigger to Meet?

"One of the greatest arguments for the Young Men's Christian association," continued Mr. Jackson, "is contained in a little incident narrated in connection with the campaign of last year. A negro man called up by telephone the residence at which his friend, John, another negro, worked. The lady of the house, a well-known Atlanta woman, answered the phone, and the negro asked her to tell John to meet him at such-and-such a near beer saloon. The lady took him to night." George L. Knox presided. The Rev. Morris Lewis, a presiding elder in the A. M. E. Church, and one of the oldest colored ministers in the State, paid a high tribute to the work of the local Y. M. C. A. He said:

"This building, with its fine equipment, represents the most tangible effort to reach the young colored man and redeem him that has so far been made by any organization outside of the church of God."

Appeals for Support.

W. A. Kersay made an appeal to his colored brethren to support the Y. M. C. A. as an agency of good citizenship. A. E. Manning struck a popular chord when he said, "Let us pray that the white man never dies." Mr. Manning praised the white citizens of Indianapolis for their liberality in the Colored Y. M. C. A. building project.

The principal address of the evening was made by Lewis E. Johnson, secretary of the Colored Y. M. C. A. at Washington. The speaker praised the colored race and made a plea for race unity and co-operation in the attaining of civic ideals.

"The Colored Y. M. C. A. must stand for race unity," said Mr. Johnson. "The tendency to segregate ourselves on the basis of professions, wealth or color is foolish and suicidal. This institution stands for reverence for the privilege of citizenship. We need men of vision who will help us see the full possibilities of American citizenship and help us realize them."

Among others who spoke were J. F. Johnson, Dr. E. N. Perkins and Dr. J. H. Ward, who is the chairman of the membership committee. A feature of the evening was the singing of Noble Sissle.

Tuesday Night—Booker T. Washington Dedicates the Building.

A mixed audience of at least twelve hundred people filled every available place in the spacious gymnasium on Tuesday night, to hear Dr. Washington deliver the dedicatory speech. At 8 o'clock it was necessary to close the outside doors, for people were crowded out in the lobby. There were over five hundred people waiting outside for an overflow meeting, but a rainstorm came up and they dispersed. It was about 10 o'clock before the Doctor took the platform. After congratulating the colored people of Indianapolis and thanking the white citizens for their help, he declared that the new building should be a potent factor in solving the problem of the 35,000 colored persons of the city.

"I wish to congratulate the colored people of Indianapolis," said Mr. Washington, "on account of this magnificent structure. I wish to thank and congratulate the white people in Indianapolis on account of their generous help and interest.

"In the city of Indianapolis there are about 35,000 colored persons. Many of these have recently come here. Many are classed as 'floaters.' The problem which is presented by so many of our race coming into a large city like this within so short a time is a serious one. This building is to help solve this problem.

"The time has come when we should try to prevent any large number of colored persons from coming into these large cities unless they are reasonably sure of finding profitable employment. If they are not watched and guided serious difficulty will overtake those of our race who are already here. The completion of this building should inspire us in more faith and confidence in ourselves and more confidence in our white friends. This building should mean a great deal to us. It should mean less idleness on the part of black people in Indianapolis. It should mean less State secretary; Rev. T. A. Incident to the Formal Opening of the New Structure for the Betterment of the Young Colored Men.

(By Noble Sissle.)

The formal opening of the Colored Branch, Y. M. C. A., which is situated at the corner of Michigan and Senate avenue, was held on last Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in the large gymnasium. Several hundred people crowded the gym to listen to the speaker, Dr. J. E. Moorland, the international secretary, of Washington, D. C. Dr. Moorland said, in part:

"This building is the concrete expression of an idea that originated fifteen years ago. It stands for better manhood, physically, morally and spiritually. We must cut down the death rate of the Negro. We must make them more efficient and dependable, and therefore able to demand larger wages. Our Bible classes will make them better fit for their church work and life in their homes. We want to develop boys into Christian manhood to take their places in the world."

The speaker dwelt on the spiritual development of the members as the ultimate aim of the association. He paid a high tribute to Mr. Julius Rosenwald, of Chicago, whose gift of $25,000 made possible the erection of this building. He was referred to as "the princely, philanthropic, Hebrew statesman" and held up by the speaker as an ideal example of Christian brotherhood.

Sixty Y. M. C. A. members of Cincinnati, headed by their secretary, Mr. H. Dunbar, were present, and made themselves very noticeable by their extreme generosity when the collection was taken. One member gave five dollars and several one dollar. Mr. Dunbar led the singing in during the meeting; H. L. Sanders presided; Scripture was read by E. E. Stacey, less idleness on the part of black people in Indianapolis. It should mean less State secretary; Rev. T. A. ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 11.—In 1893 George W. Vanderbilt erected the Young Men's Institute at a cost of $32,500 for the use of the colored people in Asheville, N. C., and vicinity. For a number of years he met all of the shortage in running expenses, but in the fall of 1905

he stated to the officials, through his representative, that he would be glad to deed the property to them for the sum of $12,000, donating the balance of the original price of $32,500. This offer was to hold good till the first day of May, 1906.

The proposition seemed at first to be an impossible task. Only 6,000 colored people lived in Asheville at that time, woman and children. Nevertheless, the leaders of the race got busy, and at the expiration of the time had raised $2,500.

last month the struggle has been to pay off the mortgage, which was done two weeks ago.

The Y. M. I. was not under the direction of the Y. M. Galveston Y. M. C. A. (Col.) Cry For Workers

BY W. H. JENKINS, Chairman Campaign Committee.

Among the many religious organizations in existence, the church stands second to none; but next to the church stands an organization which has caused the world to open its eyes with wonder; and that one is the Y. M. C. A.

From a desire to meet the demands of the business and industrial classes of people who could not be reached by the churches the venerable servant of God. George Williams organized this great movement in the city of London England.

It was and is the object of this association, to furnish a Christianity which can easily be practiced by people of all denominations. So great are its teachings, and so rapidly has the Y. M. C. A. grown, that to-day it is known on every civilized continent.

It is said that "We build the ladder by which we rise." The distant mountains that rise in their majestic heights, are crossed by pathways, that we can see only as we rise to higher levels; and our ideal Young Men's Christian Association, that rises in its majestic grandeur, is reached only by our noble deeds, our high hopes, our lofty aspirations and our mighty resolves; doing each hour what our hives crave to idealize; fulfilling each day the most sacred mission of life—to live and help others to live.

Special to THE NEW YORK AGE, 12-18-13
ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 16.—History was made in the progress of the Negro race by the meeting of the colored churches of Atlanta held Sunday night at the Auditorium. Seven thousand Negroes gathered in one congregation, in spite of the rainy night that capped a dreary Sunday, and remained from 7 o'clock till nearly midnight for a mass meeting that has never been equaled in the South, and that, as speakers declared in eloquent addresses, "marks the beginning of a new era in the history of the Negro problem of the South."

Five thousand three hundred and seventy-seven dollars was added to the Young Men's Christian Association fund as a result of the meeting. This, added to the $11,500 which has already been paid by the Negroes, makes a total of $16,877 in cash from the Negroes themselves for the purpose of building the new colored Young Men's Christian Association building. With outstanding teachers, from Augusta, Ga.; Miss May the pastors and other leaders declared Interesting Program Rendered July 9 and 10—Friends of Association Visit Rooms in Large Numbers.

Hampered for a long time by inadequate quarters, yet doing effective work under the capable superintendence of Miss Gertrude E. James, the general secretary, the Young Women's Christian Association is now installed in its new and commodious home, at 121-123 West 132nd street. Two dwellings have been converted into one and ample facilities are thus provided for the carrying on of this important and successful work for the benefit of negro girls and women.

By way of celebrating the transfer to the new location, a reception and house-warming was held Wednesday and Thursday evenings, July 9 and 10, to which a large number of the friends and supporters of the work were invited. Interesting and well-prepared programs were rendered to audiences which taxed the capacity of the new building. A number of addresses were made during the two evenings, presenting the different phases of the Y. W. C. A. work from various angles, which were instructive and interesting.

The programs were as follows:

Today the negroes of Atlanta are to make history. The mass meeting at the auditorium will mark the beginning of a new era in the solving of the south's negro problem. Not only the negroes, but the entire population, will reap the benefit.

The white people of Atlanta can help, very materially, to make this big meeting a success. They can give their servants the evening off so they can attend. They can say to them: "Go to the Auditorium this evening and help in this great movement." They can encourage their servants in more ways than one, and help make everyone realize the splendid purpose of the gathering. They can also let their servants off, wherever possible, to attend the Sunday morning services in the various negro churches also, for these will lead up to the climax of Sunday night.

This is the appeal, therefore, which The Constitution makes to the white people to help in this great cause. Send your servant.

The two hundred and fifty men and women make up a corps of volunteer workers under J. E. Moorland, international secretary, who has charge of the campaign, and they begin this week their active canvass for funds. The dinner Tuesday evening at which they received instructions was the beginning of a series of dinners to be served every evening at the same hour and place, at which time the workers will assemble to report the day's progress and to receive further instructions.

Great enthusiasm was aroused by the announcement that the first thousand dollars contributed to the colored women's branch was the gift of a Negro, Squire Garnett, who is employed as a butler by Judge McLean, corner 5th avenue and 130th street. Mr. Garnett in his capacity as butler, heard the addresses at a meeting held in the residence of his employer in the interest of the colored women's branch of the Y. W. C. A., one of which was made by Mrs. R. C. Ransom. His interest being aroused he inquired if he could contribute. Upon receiving information that he could he informed Miss Grace Dodge, one of the prominent white workers, that he would give $1,000 for the colored women.

NEW COLORED BRANCH Y. M. C. A. MONUMENT TO THE CITY.

Big Contributions by Julius Rosenwald, Carl Fisher, Mme. C. J. Walker and Others.

The Yelman
(By Noble Sissle.)

The beautiful new Colored Y. M. C. A. building, that stands on the southwest corner of Senate avenue and Michigan street as a beacon light to all colored men and boys, is without a doubt the most elaborately furnished building that could be obtained with the one hundred thousand dollar appropriation. There is no flash to the exterior or interior; only those things that are essential and the best in quality.

The institution is a three-story brick structure. A cement sidewalk extends from the building to the curb on the street sides. It fronts on Senate avenue and runs a half square back on Michigan street. The outward appearance is very inviting, everything being uniform. There are buff-colored roller curtains and draped curtains of the same color at each window. The entrance is made through double plate glass doors, on which are long draped curtains and brass handles. The curtains are caught in the middle and tied back with a cord, thus making a very artistic appearance. A marble stairway protected by brass railings leads you up into the lobby, the floor of which is of inlaid tile. The woodwork in the lobby and throughout the building is of fumed oak and the walls and corridors are all buff color.

There are windows on each side of the main entrance, and in front of each one is a table with an inlaid glass checker board. A large reading table graces the center of the lobby, around which are leather back chairs. Several inviting looking rocking chairs and couches are also about for one's use. In the rear of the lobby to the left is the office counter, behind which is the desk of the assistant secretary, J. C. Hayes, and Mrs. May Daniels, the bookkeeper. Two large doorways on the right side of the lobby lead into the pool and billiard room. Three pool tables, one billiard, wire chairs for the spectators and four handsome cue racks, each inlaid with a large mirror, adorning the walls, are the furnishings of this room. There are three rooms to the left of the lobby; the first one off from the entrance is the reading and writing room, then comes the check room, and next to that, off from the counter, is the private office of Mr. Thos. E. Taylor, the general secretary.

Well-Equipped Gymnasium.

In the rear of the lobby, to the right, are two doors, one of which leads into the big gymnasium, 50x70 feet in dimensions, and two stories high. The walls are brick and it has a new style floating floor. The hanging running track on the second floor is saucer shaped and covered with cork. Everything that belongs to a modern gym can be found there. Mr. DeFranze, of Washington, D. C., is the physical instructor, and in him the boys will find a competent director, who knows every part of Cafe With $2,000 Equipment.

The other door mentioned above, at the rear of the lobby, is the entrance to the cafe. At the opening of the cafe, on Sunday, the first thing that nearly everyone said was: "At last we have a fine place where we can take our friends and get a good meal served in first-class style." And they were right, because in Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Hudson, as managers, the public have two faithful people to give them service. The Y. M. C. A. could not have let the rights to a more worthy couple. Mr. Hudson is well known as a competent chef. He is a Christian man and his wife is a good, conscientious woman. They live in Highland Place, and are both energetic and up-to-date. One has but to look in at the cafe to read the character of this couple. Every piece of silver new, every dish new, every urn and steam dish top highly polished; girls waiting tables, dressed in white; a beautiful music box playing sweet strains of classic and popular music; Mrs. Hudson with her pleasing smiles, at the door making every one feel at home and welcome; and, above all, the food well cooked and plenty on each order. All these speak louder than words. The cafe seats fifty-seven at one time. And Sunday hundreds were turned away.

The kitchen is one of the finest equipped in the city, of its size. Everything is modern. In the words of Paul Laurence Dunbar, "Can't tell you nothing 'bout it; you ought to bin da' and seed it for yo'self."

Fine Bathing Pool.

Downstairs in the front is the boys' department. It has a street entrance, so that the boys won't have to come in through the men's section. They have separate locker rooms and shower baths, and also entrance to the gym.

The barber shop is in the northeast end of the basement, with a street entrance. There are three chairs, and Mr. J. S. Posey is the proprietor and teacher of the barber school, which is in a room adjoining. The biggest thing to most of the boys is the big plunge, 40 feet long, 7½ feet deep at one end and 4 feet at the other; tile lined and a nickel-plated railing running all around. There are also shower baths, so that each fellow can cleanse himself before going in to bathe. There is a large laundry on this floor, two revolving tubs, double section drying rooms, one rotary dryer, a mangle, all run by electricity, and a stationary ironing board, comprise the equipment. Mrs. L. Tanzy is head laundress.

One thing worthy of special mention is the 70-foot well, that has an electric automatic pump, which forces the water to a tank on the roof and supplies drinking water for the entire building. The heat is furnished by the heat and light company, but there is also a private heating plant, so that in case of emergency they can furnish their own heat. There are several other rooms on this floor for the different trades, such as automobile school and machine shops.

Cozy Dormitories.

There are, in all, 61 dormitory rooms, with 101 accommodations. The furnishings of each single room are: Regular iron sanitary cot, a chiffonier, table, one rocking chair and one straight-back chair, all of fumed oak. In the double rooms there are double-deck beds and three chairs instead of two.

Mrs. Martha A. Sissle is the matron of the dormitories. The dormitories take up all the third floor and part of the second.

There are three class rooms on the second floor that can be opened into one, thus making a room large enough for lectures to be given in, and it has a seating capacity of 200. There is another class room on this floor that can hold for a private banquet room, with a kitchen adjoining it.

The building is electric lighted, and the reporter came back to speak to the point. Dr. Washington concluded it was time to cut him in a sort of flank movement. Dr. Washington is so arranged that in the daytime every room from the basement to the top floor, with but one exception (the boys' lock room), gets the direct daylight.

Big Donations Toward Building Fund.

This building, as were other Negroes, was made possible by the Y. M. C. A.'s.

As a representative of The Freeman I nucleus for a fund. Mr. Rosenwald gave Dr. Washington for something special $25,000 as a starter. Others who gave him something that his thousands of constituents, so to speak, were vitally interested were: Carl Fisher, $10,000; Mme. C. J. Walker, $1,000; Mme. Bryce, $500 each. This was in the afternoon. He and Dr. Harry Furniss, $500 each. The asked me to call him up on the phone at following contributed: Dr. E. N. Per-7 p. m., the time an hour prior to when Dr. J. H. Ward and Mr. W. Vinney, $250 each; Dr. Sumner Furniss, Mrs. Minter, $100 each, and Mrs. Willson, $200, and others too numerous to mention. It is not overstated when I say that time in celebrating the fifty years of free-edom in appropriate ways.

Building Committee.

The power behind the throne was the earnest effort of the building committee, composed of three of the city's most competent white business men—J. F. Wild, chairman; T. B. Laycock and J. W. Lilly. These men worked night and day with their wide knowledge of business dealings, and successfully guided the less experienced board of managers. It is to them that we owe the credit of this building, so completely put up and furnished. All honor to these noble, free-hearted men, who help to stem the tide in the face of criticism from their own race, and dark days and bitter disappointments on all sides, and then landed us safe on the shores of victory.

Board of Directors.

However, too much praise cannot be given the board of managers, who worked so heroically in conjunction with the building committee and helped in a large degree to make possible this gala week. Had they not have been men of the caliber they were, they would not have been able to carry out the plans given them by the building committee so smoothly. Indianapolis is proud of them, and they have won the confidence of the people because they have given to the public its money's worth and a little more. The personnel of the board is as follows: Geo. L. Knox, chairman; Dr. E. N. Perkins, vice chairman; H. L. Sanders, treasurer; Dr. W. E. Brown, Dr. J. H. Ward and Jno. W. Howard.

Special Gifts.

There have been many special gifts to the building, to be used for the carrying on of the work. One was a $5,000 gift left by the late Geo. B. Yandes and a $50 yearly endowment by the late Hugh Mc- Gowan.

The Famous Tuskegee Educator in Indianapolis—His Views on Current Topics—Is Cautious and Reserved on Some Points.

Dr. Booker T. Washington, the famous Tuskegee educator, arrived in Indianapolis last Tuesday morning at 1:45. He immediately repaired to the residence of Madame C. J. Walker, where he was entertained while waiting the time when he should appear at the new Colored Y. M. C. A. building, where he took part in the dedicatory program. Part of the time was spent in automobiling about the city in the Madame's fine touring car.

As usual, an army of newspaper people were at his heels, also camera men, all of whom were anxious to ply him with questions or to make pictures of him for the illustration of their publications. Most of the journals of the city were represented, including those by colored men. Dr. Washington proved a friend to the reporters, and to all who wished to honor him by their attention. He chatted with all in a jovial way. He permitted them to make the most of the situation. In a few points in the interviews, only, was he paid very much attention to the Negro decidedly much. The rush of the opening week is on, and the tremendous crowds that have greeted the efforts of the committee of management thus far presages the success of the future work.

The crowning feature of the week's program was the dedication of the new building on Tuesday evening and the remarkable address of Dr. Booker T. Washington.

The largest number of people of the week were gathered in the fine new building, and it became expedient to close the doors at 8 p. m. to lessen the rush on the inside.

After this week the association will settle down to a regular line of work. A schedule of the work will be given later.

This is the last week of the membership campaign, whereby two dollars can be saved by joining at once. The lowest fees of any of the large associations in the country are to be had here in the city of Indianapolis, including all the privileges of a modern association.

All men are welcome to the building at any time. Join now and enjoy a nice cool swim in the large pool, a fine shower bath, the finest billiard room in the State, a handsome reading room, an excellent cafe with prompt service, and home-like rooms for men at very low figures.

UP TO ATLANTA NEGROES.

Tonight at the Auditorium-Armory will be launched a momentous experiment toward the solution of one of the fundamental phases of the negro problem. That is the significance of the action of every negro church in Atlanta in submerging denominational difference and uniting in a mass meeting the object of which is to complete the fund for the negro Young Men's Christian association.

Where the two factors do not actually dovetail, crime ranks next to disease as a menace to the negro. Idleness among adult negroes and lack of recreational resources among young negroes are prolific influences in the making of the criminal. Representative negroes in every walk of life in Atlanta have at last sensed this elemental principle. They believe the broad field covered by the Y. M. C. A. offers a common meeting ground upon which they can gather and combat the agencies that are sapping the strength of their people.

This one fact, that the negro himself now recognizes the situation, is among the most significant that has developed in the local history of the race problem. Not less portentous is the further fact that it is upon the initiative of the negroes themselves that the monster mass meeting of this evening is projected. White persons are not to be asked to give a penny. The healthful burden of responsibility will be thrown entirely on the negroes.

The scope of the meeting is shown in the fact that every negro church is drawn into it. It is expected that the Auditorium will be packed to capacity. Among the more notable speakers among white Atlantans will be Governor Slaton, Marion Jackson, Judge Nash R. Broyles, one of the south's leading authorities on negro crime, and the Rev. Dr. John E. White. Leaders among the negroes will also present the appeal from the point of view of the race itself. Constantly during the past few weeks Marion Jackson, J. P. Jackson and W. Woods White have been co-operating with an executive committee of negroes.

The status of the movement is this: $100,000 is the sum required to broaden the negro Y. M. C. A. to the dimensions demanded by local needs. Of this sum, the equivalent of $80,000 is available, contingent upon the raising of $20,000 by the negroes themselves. The white people of Atlanta have already contributed $25,000 to the movement. The effort now is to secure the remainder from the negroes.

In a sense, two separate factors will be put to the test tonight:

- (1) The ability of the negro to face and recognize the needs of his own situation.
- (2) The ability of the negro to forget minor differences and work in harmony where the great basic welfare of the race is involved.

It has been a consistent contention of The Constitution that no permanent solution of the negro's problems was possible unless it rested upon intelligent co-operation from the negro himself. The white man has done much, can do more and should do more than he is doing now, especially as he is represented in his churches. His duty is one of economic self-preservation, not to mention philanthropy. But the white man cannot do all. He can supply and water the seed. He cannot furnish the field nor insure that the seed will take root and not be choked by weeds. That is and ever must be the business of the negro.

An efficiently conducted Y. M. C. A. can within a few years radically lower the crime rate among Atlanta's negroes, not only directly but equally by educational influences.

Crime, like disease, is non-denominational. It menaces the entire negro race, the good as well as the bad, the thrifty as well as the thriftless. The way to combat crime is to work upon the up-coming generation. That is the especial mission of the Y. M. C. A.

The negroes of Atlanta have it in their power this evening to write a new chapter in the handling of the race problem in America. We believe they will recognize the solemnity of the opportunity and live up to it.

PLAN NEW Y. M. C. A. HOME

Structure to Cost $150,000—Dr. J. E. Moorland on the Field to Take Active Part in Campaign.

Recognition of the worth of the colored citizens of New York has been accorded by the Joint Campaign Committee of the Young Women's and Young Men's Christian Association in this city in devoting $250,000 to the colored branches of those organizations from a fund of $4,000,000 which is to be raised in a whirlwind campaign of two weeks, beginning November 10. This movement, the largest of its kind in the history of the world, is under the generalship of Charles S. Ward, known as the best money-raiser for

$1,000,000 for the colored Christian associations of this continent, which is an achievement. It is not the easiest thing in the world to find a large number of persons in any community eager to give goodly amounts to benefit the colored race. This is said without any disparagement of the philanthropy of the whites. The condition simply is that thus far they have not acquired the habit of contributing spontaneously to enterprises aimed solely at the welfare of colored persons. That they are leaning much more in that direction in these days than in former years is believed to be due in large part to the tact and incisive logic of the Colored Young Men's Christian Associations' international secretary.

$100,000 for Y. W. C. A.

One hundred thousand dollars of the fund to be raised in the current campaign will be used by the Y. W. C. A. of the city of New York to provide a building for its colored branch. This is a betterment that long has been required. Miss Gertrude James, secretary of the colored branch of the Y. W. C. A., has done great work under difficulties that would have discouraged a less determined woman. Although Miss Cora L. Fath, general secretary for metropolitan work of the association, has shown every desire to forward the aspirations of the colored branch and has given unlimited encouragement to Miss James, the colored women have been handicapped by inadequate equipment and housing to an extent that made early improvement of the condition of their branch practically imperative.

The colored women of this city are to have a Y. W. C. A. branch in Harlem that will be miles ahead of their present home. It will be fitted out with regard to their special needs as well as to the general requirements of the association work. They will be rewarded for their unremitting labor by seeing the women under charge established in a position of comfort such as they have desired these many months.

In Mr. Bell the colored branch of the Y. M. C. A. has a faithful secretary. Secretary Bell is recognized throughout the city as an honorable representative of his race. He has been encouraged generously by Henry M. Orne, general secretary of the New York City Association, and he has met that encouragement with consistent effort for the betterment of his brethren that has commanded the admiration of his acquaintances.

The colored branch of the Y. M. C. A. will have a building which is to cost $150,000 in addition to the $35,000 at which its present home is valued, and which promises to be one of the most thoroughly equipped branches of the association anywhere in the country. T. J. Bell and his assistant, Elsie Elmendorf, look forward eagerly to the day when they shall be able to welcome philanthropic purposes. Mr. Ward is secretary of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations of North America. In the last eight years he has raised $20,000,000 for those organizations, having a record of more than eighty building fund campaigns without a single failure. It is argued from that fact that the success of this campaign is assured at the outset.

Associated closely with Mr. Ward in this gigantic undertaking is Dr. J. E. Moorland, International Secretary of the Colored Men's Department of the Young Men's Christian Associations of North America. Dr. Moorland is one of the prominent men of the race.

Readers of THE AGE perhaps are aware that Dr. Moorland has raised the colored young men and boys of New York to a building calculated to stir the ambition of every member.

Raised $1,000,000 Since 1911.

The million raised by Dr. Moorland since January 1, 1911, came only in part from the whites. A third of that amount was raised among colored persons. Colored men and women in all parts of the country gave generously to the cause of the colored Y. M. C. A. and it would be singular if those in New York should be found wanting when the opportunity is given to them, as it is to-day, to do their share in providing better accommodations for Christian work among the women and men of their own race.

In this movement, with the united interests of all the pastors and churches and those outside the church, success is assured.

The splendid leadership of the committee of management, with Dr. E. P. Roberts at the head of the men and Mrs. R. C. Ransom leading the women, give further certainty that the faithfulness of a host of persistent persons will be rewarded. Vigorous work is being done by G. W. Allen, vice-chairman of the Colored Men's Association, and Mrs. Helen Curtis, vice-chairman of the women.

BUSINESS LEAGUE CON-
GRATULATES ROSENWALD

Special to THE NEW YORK AGE.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 15.—The Colored Men's Business League at a recent meeting expressed its appreciation of the benevolence of Julius Rosenwald of joint auspices of the two colored branches. The Rev. A. Clayton Powell presided. An urgent appeal for spiritual city, by drafting a set of resolutions as well as financial assistance to the race in this city was made by Dr. Reverdy C. Ransom, editor of the A. letter and sent Mr. Rosenwald by F. M. E. Review. An eloquent address A. Stokes, president, and W. R. Moten, was made by the Rev. Dr. C. T. Walker corresponding secretary.

The following is a copy of the letter and resolutions:

We, the Colored Business Men's League, have taken notice of your philanthropic and charitable benevolence toward our people, and we here especially note your recent gift of $25,000 to the Colored Y. M. C. A. of Chicago. The gift will not alone do untold good in helping them materially, but will do even greater good in their development morally, educationally and religiously; and,

WHEREAS, You, Mr. Rosenwald, recently gave to the colored people of Chicago the sum of $25,000; and

WHEREAS, the trend of Christian tendencies seem to propagate a spirit for foreign mission work, rather than encouraging a helpful Christian influence and work toward the needy at home; and

WHEREAS, It is one of the prime objects of the Colored Business Men's League to look after the interest, note the progress of our people and express due appreciation for the same.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the $25,000 donated to the Colored Y. M. C. A. of Chicago by Mr. Julius Rosenwald will not alone do infinite good toward the material and Christian uplift of the colored people of Chicago, but will inspire other great spirits to emulate this example by contributing to the moral and spiritual well being of our race in like manner elsewhere.

BE IT RESOLVED FURTHER, That we, the Colored Business Men's League of Spokane, Wash., take this means of expressing our gratitude to you, the donor, for your beneficent gift to our race.

BUILD A Y. W. C. A.

The colored women of Birmingham and vicinity under the leadership of Mrs. J. S. Jackson are endeavoring to get 1000 women to join the Y. W. C. A. movement by Thanksgiving Day and they have already more than 700 members enrolled.

These good women are engaged in a great work and will get the members they are after for the proper spirit is being carried on between the reds and blues with strong workers on both sides who are going to do their very best to win and get the required number.

Every woman who can should join in this movement and build one of the most beautiful buildings of its kind in the Coun-

The people are here, the money is being earned and the cause is worthy, then why not every man, woman and child get behind those who are working and carry the great work on to success!

There is not any question about these good women getting one thousand women to join them by Thanksgiving Day, but we hope that more than that member will be enrolled.

Every church and society in the city has some members on the membership roll and these should not stop until nearly every woman in them is a member of the Y. W. C. A. and instead of one thousand to join by 1914.

This can and ought to be done, the press, platform and pulpit ought to help by using their pen and voice in its behalf then do subscriptions for the joint fund are not rest until the building is erected, paid for and dedicated to the uplifting of fallen humanity and to further the Christian religion throughout the district.

At the next meeting of the Association at St. John A. M. E. Church, on the 9th day of November we hope to hear that the one thousand members have been secured and that others are being enrolled for such work is badly needed in our city.

HELP WHITE WORKERS

IN BIG Y. M. C. A. RALLY.

Special to THE NEW YORK AGE. 11-18-13.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 16.—In the recent campaign for $85,000 for the white added and more than $20 00 was Y. M. C. A., N. W. Sanders, secretary paid for membership fee with of the colored branch, led a campaign among the colored people for aid. Mr. Sanders and his helpers were surprised at the hearty response of Negroes, and especially when it is considered that the colored citizens have no Y. M. C. A. building. When the report was turned in to Mr. McGitt, the secretary of the white Y. M. C. A., he made the following statement:

"The part taken by the colored business men of Nashville in the building campaign for the Central Branch for the Young Men's Christian Association is a most remarkable achievement. Few things in connection with the reports during the building campaign created more enthusiasm or won more applause than the report which was made to the workers at the Maxwell House luncheon to the fact that the colored business men of Nashville had subscribed more than $600 for the Central Branch Y. M. C. A. building. One well-known business man remarked that this represented more in sacrifice in service than $60,000 from some other citizens."

"In view of the fact of the needs of the work of the association for colored boys and young men and the meager resources at the command of the Colored Men's Branch, it is a tremendous testimony to the public spirit of the colored men of Nashville that they should have on their own initiative made such a liberal contribution to the white Young Men's Christian Association building."

MURDER WILL OUT. 13

The Chicago Tribune in a recent issue publishes a contribution to the South Side Y. M. C. A. of $25,000 by Mr. Cyrus H. McCormick, President of the Tribune Company. If true, the article refutes some of the cruel rumors a few of the colored politicians are charging against Mr. McCormick and the Tribune of prejudice to the race.

Subscribers and citizens filled the tent, while other citizens and curious spectators thronged upon the outside, all held by the unique meeting which

LIST OF SUBSCRIBERS

For the First Four Days of Campaign
536 Colored Citizens of Greater New York Subscribed $10,977.50.

Interest in the joint financial campaign of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. is at fever heat. By the end of the week the workers expect to make an announcement with reference to the amount subscribed by the colored citizens of the city which will be agreeably surprising. For the first four days commencing Wednesday, November 12, Dr. J. E. Moorland has given out the statement that 536 members of the race subscribed $10,977.50.

The women workers are injecting much ginger in the campaign, and are making an enviable record. There is a small pennant on which are inscribed the words "We are it" which is awarded each day to the team reporting the highest amount. Each evening the pennant has graced the women's side of the banquet hall at Lafayette Hall, 132d street and Seventh avenue, but on Monday evening the men temporarily captured the bunting. Capt. Theodore Smith reported $324 and while the men were enthusing over coming in possession of the pennant Mrs. Rosalie Mc-Clendon reported that the women had collected $338 for the day, and amid great excitement the coveted pennant was recaptured by the energetic female workers.

Y. W. C. A. CAMPAIGN.

The Birmingham Reporter

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the membership committee of the Young Women's Christian Association at Sh'lloh Baptist church Wednesday this time, showed the Reds to be in the lead, they having turned in 120 applications for membership and $13 cash, while the Blues turned in 47 applications and $8.00 cash. This spirited contest being waged between the rival committees has resulted in nearly 700 applications for membership. The committee hopes to get 1,000 by the close of the contest, which will be Thanksgiving Day.

COLORED Y. M. C. A.

WORKERS ARE BUSY

Continued enthusiasm is being shown by the workers in their efforts to raise sufficient money to have the new building begin for Y. M. C. A. work among colored men and boys in this city. On last Friday night several of the larger subscribers paid the balance on their pledges. Among them were Rev. C. M. Turner, pastor of Big Bethel, who paid in full his pledge of $50; Dr. H. R. Butler and A. D. Hamilton completed their pledges of $100 each; Dr. T. H. Salter a pledge of 50, and David T. Howard brought his payments up to $25. There were several smaller payments, which will be published within the next week.

Dr. Booker T. Washington will deliver the dedicatory address at the new building Tuesday evening, July 8.

The opening week program in full will appear in the next week's issue. Tuskegee band concert at Tomlinson Hall.

Among those who have paid their subscriptions to the building fund of the Colored Men's Branch, Y. M. C. A. are the following: Wm. Banks, $1; O. Bedenbaugh, $1.50; Henry Bennett, $1; Carrie Boyer, $5; Wm. C. Brown, $5; Paul W. Caine, $1; W. Caine, $1; H. Cebolt, $1; Mary Corley, $2; Walter E. SUBSCRIBE OVER $30,000.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 25.—In the campaign inaugurated by the Negro citizens of the city to raise money for the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building, over $30,000 was subscribed within two weeks. The city has promised to give an additional $50,000, and Julius Rosenwald of Chicago has pledged $25,000.

Geo. B. Yandes, a prominent white citizen of Indianapolis, who died last week, left $5,000 to the colored Y. M. C. A., among his other bequests. Mr. Yandes was worth above a million. The gift to the Y. M. C. A. is greatly appreciated, coming as it does when a building is being erected costing many thousands of dollars. Mr. Yandes illustrated the beautiful proposition that there are silent observers of our struggle. Out of the multitude some will extend relief.

New Year's day was marked by the opening of the new $30,000 Y. M. C. A. building on West Chestnut street. It will be a day long to be remembered by the many persons who gathered there to inspect the very handsome quarters that have been turned over to our young men. The Louisville Musical Club, under the direction of Mr. Morton, furnished the music free of charge.

The Colored Men's Branch, Y. M. C. A. of Indianapolis, will open their new $100,000 building Sunday, July 6. It is rated as one of the best constructed buildings of its kind in the country, supplied with all modern accessories for association work. It bids fair to retain its leadership among the Negro associations.

One of the most striking features of the new building is the dormitory accommodations for 101 men. This dormitory is supplied with hot and cold water, shower baths at any time, electric lights and airy rooms.

Dr. Booker T. Washington will deliver the dedicatory address at the new building Tuesday evening, July 8.

The city has promised to give an additional $50,000, and Julius Rosenwald of Chicago has pledged $25,000.

Geo. B. Yandes, a prominent white citizen of Indianapolis, who died last week, left $5,000 to the colored Y. M. C. A., among his other bequests. Mr. Yandes was worth above a million. The gift to the Y. M. C. A. is greatly appreciated, coming as it does when a building is being erected costing many thousands of dollars. Mr. Yandes illustrated the beautiful proposition that there are silent observers of our struggle. Out of the multitude some will extend relief.

New Year's day was marked by the opening of the new $30,000 Y. M. C. A. building on West Chestnut street. It will be a day long to be remembered by the many persons who gathered there to inspect the very handsome quarters that have been turned over to our young men. The Louisville Musical Club, under the direction of Mr. Morton, furnished the music free of charge.

The Colored Men's Branch, Y. M. C. A. of Indianapolis, will open their new $100,000 building Sunday, July 6. It is rated as one of the best constructed buildings of its kind in the country, supplied with all modern accessories for association work. It bids fair to retain its leadership among the Negro associations.

One of the most striking features of the new building is the dormitory accommodations for 101 men. This dormitory is supplied with hot and cold water, shower baths at any time, electric lights and airy rooms.

Dr. Booker T. Washington will deliver the dedicatory address at the new building Tuesday evening, July 8.

The opening week program in full will appear in the next week's issue.

Tuskegee band concert at Tomlinson Hall.
